FOREWORD

The Chicago Cluster of Theological Schools, like similar clusters elsewhere in North America, introduces a new dimension to theological education. Its purpose is to capitalize on existing resources and also to develop new styles for improving the quality of our educational programs.

This purpose is not achieved by drawing up an impressive catalog of courses and faculty, counting library volumes, compiling statistics on students. Whether the Cluster is accomplishing what it sets out to accomplish depends on the actual utilization of its combined resources, in other words, on the actual interchange of students, instructors and books.

The accompanying information is intended to facilitate that interchange. It hopes to make the existing resources of the eight member schools of the Chicago Cluster both psychologically and effectively more available to the student. These Announcements will assist the student in planning his year's program in consultation with his academic advisor.

As the result of coordinated planning by faculty members of the various disciplines, much unnecessary duplication of courses has been eliminated. Courses in the same subject matter have in some instances been staggered in different quarters and locations to make it easier for the student to attend courses which are required or especially interest him. An increased number of team-taught courses are found among this year's offerings.

Students should consult the catalogs of the individual schools for the respective course descriptions. A number of copies of each school's catalog are available in every Cluster registrar's office. The hours and place of the courses are announced prior to registration for each quarter. Information regarding special Cluster programs in Science and Theology, Communications, World Mission and Christian Education is supplemented by a series of special brochures.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

LIBRARY SERVICES

Enrollment in any Cluster school entitles the student to use the library services of all eight member schools. The combined Cluster library holdings of some 575,000 volumes offers the student one of the largest theological resources in the United States. The accessibility of these resources has been enhanced by the installation of a teletype communications network and regular courier service among the libraries. If a desired title is not available in one library, an instant inquiry can be sent to all Cluster schools and an answer back within hours with delivery on the same or following day.

Each library has its particular strengths. These are outlined in the Cluster Library Manual along with other information regarding special collections, lending procedures and services. The Manual can be obtained from the circulation desk of any Cluster library. The student should present his ID card at the check-out desk when borrowing a book or periodical.

Under special arrangements, students may have access to the University of Chicago Divinity School library.

THEOLOGY AND SCIENCE

Established at Meadville/Lombard Theological School in 1964, the Center for Advanced Study in Theology and the Sciences conducts courses and seminars and guides research in the dialogue between theology and the sciences and technology. During the 1970-71 academic year, the Center in cooperation with other Cluster schools and University of Chicago Divinity School faculty members, offered a three course sequence on the theological implications of the ecology crisis. A similar interdisciplinary program will be offered in 1971-72 under the general rubric of Christian Perspectives in Theology and Science:

Hugh McElwain (CTU), Theological Impact of Teilhard de Chardin, Fall quarter, Mondays from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. at Chicago Theological Seminary.

John Godbey (Meadville) and William Lunt (Chicago State College), Christianity and Man's Environmental Responsibility, Winter Quarter. Time TBA.

Robert Tobias (LSTC), Science Findings and Theological Reconstruction, Spring Quarter. Time TBA.

THE CENTER FOR STUDIES IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Pastoral Teacher Education

During the academic year, 1971-1972, the Center for Studies in Religious Education will offer a closely supervised and evaluated program in Pastoral Teacher Education. Analogous to Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE), this program will be offered to students of the Cluster Schools and others in a pilot model rising out of the Center-Danforth conference on the educational mission of the church, held in the Fall of 1970, at the Center for Continuing Education, University of Chicago.

This first year the Center will accept, for each quarter, six (6) students for intensive supervised training and experience in the educational ministry. While this program will take place in a "laboratory school" (St. Thomas Apostle High School), the program is aimed at the total educational task of the minister and will stress the transferability of educational skills and content.

The Cluster student who desires to enroll must register with the Center after consulting his own Academic Dean. Because of the intensity of the program, he will be limited to no more than six quarter hours or two courses of other academic subjects during his quarter of PTE. He must be in his last or next-to-last year before ordination or graduation. Upon completion of PTE he will receive certification from the Center and such credit as his Cluster School will grant.

A brochure explaining the program is available from the Rev. Eugene Mainelli, program supervisor, at the Center Office in LSTC (667-3500).

About The Center

Founded in 1965 by a group of Dominicans (Order of Preachers) interested in all aspects of the educational ministry of the church, the Center for Studies in Religious Education has since been independently incorporated in Illinois and has moved from Oak Park to Hyde Park and into office at the Lutheran School of Theology. It is a "corporation not-for-profit conducting, sponsoring, and cooperating in research, study, teaching, writing, experimenting and consulting in the field of religious education on an inter-denominational basis."

Under the directorship of Patrick J. Rooney, O.P., the Center with a Danforth Grant sponsored a conference on the educational mission of the church in the Fall of 1970, bringing together from all major denominations recognized experts in the field of religious education. This conference developed and the Center staff has since refined the Pastoral Teacher Education model as a vehicle for the Center, its staff, associates and consultants to make a serious contribution to the renewal of religious education in the churches.

BROADCAST-FILM STUDY PROGRAM

In cooperation with the Association of Chicago Theological Schools (ACTS), Bethany Theological Seminary offers Cluster students a four-course program in television, broadcasting and film study as these communication media relate to today's ministry. Under the direction of Dr. Leroy E. Kennel and Mr. Truman D. Wiles, students are introduced to fundamental concepts and theories of mass communication and the use of sophisticated studio facilities and techniques. The program includes guest speakers, film study, student projects, field trips to Chicago radio and TV stations, group work—all directed to a more effective communication of the gospel message.

A descriptive brochure outlining the program in detail is available from Bethany Seminary or the Cluster Coordinator.

WORLD MISSION AND ECUMENICS

The special program in Mission Studies consists of courses, field experience (see Hispano-American Seminar below), workshops and a one week institute for missionaries on furlough to be held March 18-25, 1972. The program is designed to provide specialized theological and cultural preparation needed for an ordained minister or a lay missionary to serve in a culture other than his own, and to make students of theology generally aware of the worldwide mission of the church by giving them a deeper understanding of the dynamics of evangelization and community building.

Descriptions of the fifteen courses in World Mission and Ecumenics listed on page 17 of these Announcements as well as further information on the total program will be found in the special flyer The World Mission of the Church 1971-72.

MINISTRY TO SPANISH-AMERICANS

As part of the World Mission studies program a cross-cultural seminar in background studies and direct experience in ministry to people of Latin American origin will be offered during the Fall Quarter. Eight sessions will meet on location within the Spanish-American community and additional academic conferences will be held at the Lutheran School of Theology. Topics to be treated include Latin American historical and cultural backgrounds, theology of the Third World, strategies and styles of ministry, ecumenism in the Hispanic world, Hispanic-American politics, social problems and possible solutions.

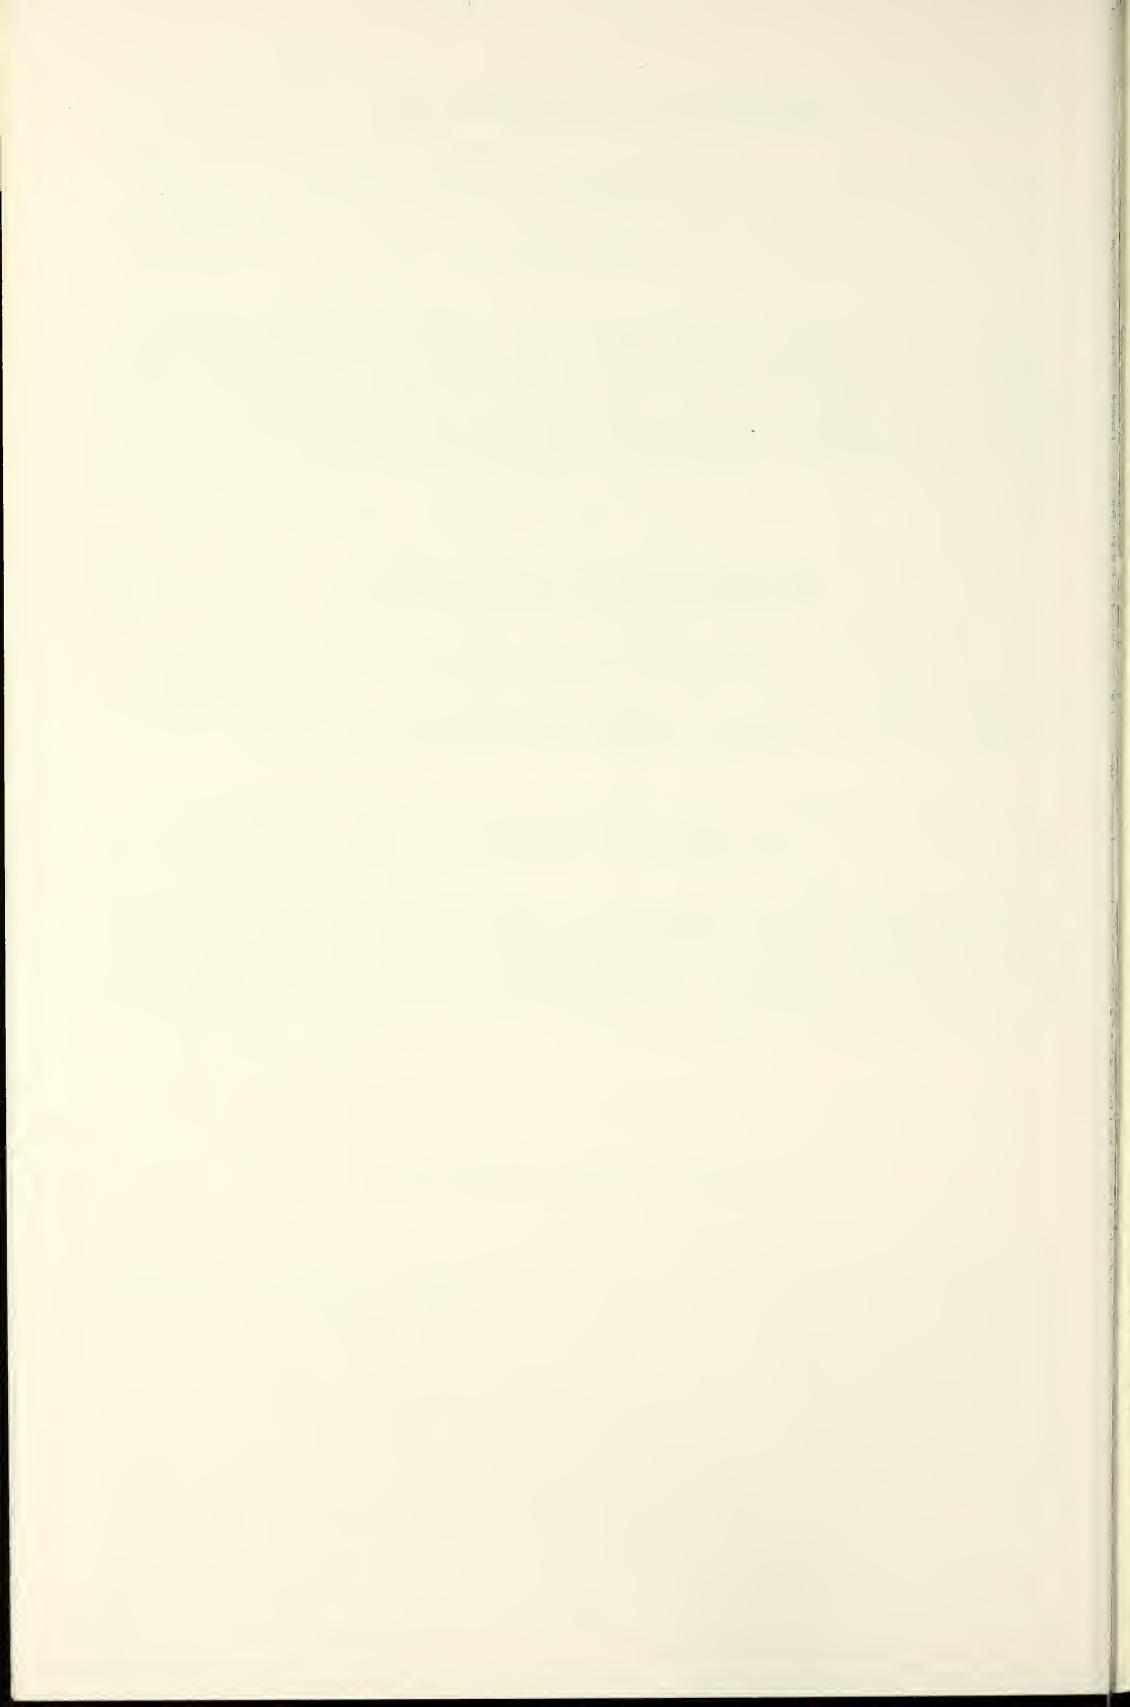

Sessions are scheduled for Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 10:00 beginning October 6th. Location: Christ Lutheran Church, Richmond and McLean, Chicago 60647 (2900 W. and 2000 N.). A variety of resource persons will be available, particularly persons of Latin American origin and persons directly engaged in local ministries to the Spanish American community. Academic supervision is under the direction of Dr. James Scherer of LSTC.

THEOLOGICAL LANGUAGE COURSES

In addition to the sixteen Biblical language courses available to students in the regular course offerings, non-credit courses in German, French and Latin are projected for the Winter and Spring Quarters. The object of these courses will be to help the student in improving his reading knowledge of theological literature in these languages. A nominal fee will be charged.

INTERSCHOOL WORKSHOPS

During the Winter Quarter (tentative date, Friday, February 4, 1972), each Cluster school will sponsor a one-day workshop on a theological question of current interest. Students are urged to participate in a workshop outside their home school. The subject, format and precise time schedule of the workshop will be determined by the host school. Details will be announced in November.
